

What is the name of the large island that the Inuits live on?

What is the name of the boat invented by the Inuits?

Greenland is in an area of the world called the Arctic _____.

What is most of Greenland covered in?

How many different types of homes did Inuits have in the past?

Winters in Greenland can be as cold as _____.

What is the Inuit name for the many-layered boots that they wear?

Which animal's fur was used most often to make clothing?

What do Inuits call the temporary home they make from snow?

The Inuits eat land animals such as _____.

What does the word 'Inuit' mean in the Inuit language?

Summers in Greenland do not usually get any warmer than ____.

What is the name of the hooded coat invented by the Inuits?

What continent do the Inuits from Greenland live on?

What do Inuits do today with the food that they fish, hunt, or gather?

What types of transport do Inuits use today?

The Inuits eat sea mammals such as _____.

In the past, how did Inuits get most of their food?

How did Inuits travel from one place to another in the past?

What material are modern Inuit homes made from?

Parka

Greenland

North America

'The people'

Ice

-20°C

Kayak

Three

10°C

Circle

Snowmobiles, motorboats or small planes

Reindeer

Walrus, seal and whale

Share it with the community

Mukluks

Walked, used a dogsled or kayak

Reindeer and polar bears

Wood

An igloo

They hunted, fished or gathered plants

Name: _____ Date: _____

Sort the Fact Cards into the correct columns below.

 Traditional Inuit lifestyle	Modern Inuit lifestyle

They have a summer home, a winter home, and a temporary home when hunting.

They live in villages along the coast in small wooden houses.

They buy vegetables and canned foods from local shops.

Journeys over the land are made by walking or using a dogsled.

All clothing is hand made from animal skin and fur.

All of their food comes from hunting, fishing and gathering.

They move from place to place depending on where food can be found.

Some homes are built on stilts to keep them away from the frozen ground.

Snowmobiles are used to travel long distances.

Some parkas and mukluks are made using a sewing machine and are sold to visitors.

A traditional Inuit winter home was a tent made from wooden poles and animal skins.

True

False

Inuits live on the coast of a large island called Greenland. They cannot live inland because it is covered in ice.

True

False

Today, Inuits live in homes made from blocks of snow that are called igloos.

True

False

Inuits hunt and eat animals such as badgers, goats and foxes.

True

False

Modern Inuit homes are often built on stilts to keep them off the frozen ground.

True

False

Inuits hunt and eat reindeer. They use the skin to make clothing.

True

False

When an Inuit has hunted, fished or gathered food, he shares it only with his family.

True

False

The Inuits invented a coat called a parka, and a narrow boat called a kayak.

True

False

In the past, Inuits travelled long distances by skiing or skating.

True

False

In Greenland, the summers are very hot and the winters are very cold.

True

False

Some modern Inuits now make traditional clothes using a sewing machine, and sell them to visitors.

True

False

Inuit boots, called mukluks, are very heavy and noisy to walk around in.

True

False

Name: _____ Date: _____

Think about the traditional Inuit way of life and your way of life. Under each heading, write one thing that is the same, and one thing that is different.

Homes

Same:

Different:

Food

Same:

Different:

Clothing

Same:

Different:

Name: _____ Date: _____

Travel

Same:

Different:

Weather

Same:

Different:

Would you like to visit an Inuit community?

Circle your answer below:

Yes No

Now explain your answer to someone else on your table.

Sort the Fact Cards into the correct columns below.

Traditional Inuit lifestyle

They have a summer home, a winter home, and a temporary home when hunting.

All clothing is hand made from animal skin and fur.

They move from place to place depending on where food can be found.

All of their food comes from hunting, fishing and gathering.

Journeys over the land are made by walking or using a dogsled.

Modern Inuit lifestyle

They live in villages along the coast in small wooden houses.

They buy vegetables and canned foods from local shops.

Some homes are built on stilts to keep them away from the frozen ground.

Some parkas and mukluks are made using a sewing machine and are sold to visitors.

Snowmobiles are used to travel long distances.

A traditional Inuit winter home was a tent made from wooden poles and animal skins.

True

False

Inuits live on the coast of a large island called Greenland. They cannot live inland because it is covered in ice.

True

False

Today, Inuits live in homes made from blocks of snow that are called igloos.

True

False

Inuits hunt and eat animals such as badgers, goats and foxes.

True

False

Modern Inuit homes are often built on stilts to keep them off the frozen ground.

True

False

Inuits hunt and eat reindeer. They use the skin to make clothing.

True

False

When an Inuit has hunted, fished or gathered food, he shares it only with his family.

True

False

The Inuits invented a coat called a parka, and a narrow boat called a kayak.

True

False

In the past, Inuits travelled long distances by skiing or skating.

True

False

In Greenland, the summers are very hot and the winters are very cold.

True

False

Some modern Inuits now make traditional clothes using a sewing machine, and sell them to visitors.

True

False

Inuit boots, called mukluks, are very heavy and noisy to walk around in.

True

False